

Attractions

In addition to making a canal cruise and visiting some museums, many visitors also join a guided tour of a diamond factory or take a look behind the scenes in the Heineken beer brewery (Heineken Experience). The traditional clog maker and cheese maker are popular as well. Just thirty minutes away by coach lies the bulb area. In spring, this turns into a colourful sea of flowers of which the Keukenhof is the highlight. In summer there are flower shows and flower parades. Throughout the year, the world's largest flower auction in Aalsmeer is open to the public on weekdays.

The journey continues past windmills to nostalgic fishing villages, through lush polders and back to the city, where you can do some shopping (shops in the city centre are also open on Sundays). Amsterdam boasts an interesting mix of speciality shops, trendy boutiques, cluttered buildings filled with art and antiques, department stores and markets. When the day draws to an end, life in the entertainment districts goes on. Cafés, discos, casinos and trendy nightlife with lounge bars, noodle bars, clubs and famous festivals; the enjoyable Amsterdam nights last as long as you want them to.

SHOPPING

Shopping in Amsterdam is a special experience. The city offers a wide range of shopping facilities and visitors can stroll through the beautiful historical city centre while shopping. Many shops are now open on Sundays!

FAMOUS SHOPPING STREETS

Shopping streets such as Kalverstraat, Leidsestraat, Nieuwendijk, P.C. Hooftstraat, Rokin, and Van Baerlestraat offer a variety of boutiques and souvenir shops. The Bijenkorf, Kalvertoren, Magna Plaza Shopping Centre and Maison de Bonneterie offer shopping in monumental buildings.

BETWEEN THE CANALS

The narrow streets that link the major canals are full of unexpected little shops, often specialized in items varying from bonbons or kites to whiskies and beers. In the Jordaan, a typical Amsterdam neighbourhood, there are many small shops where you can pick up remarkable bargains. There are a surprising number of second-hand shops and lots of boutiques offering exclusive clothing.

CHIC, ART & ANTIQUES

There are upscale shopping areas in the centre as well as in the South of Amsterdam such as the P.C. Hooftstraat and Beethovenstraat. Exclusive shopping is also possible at the diamond merchants (see page 82). Visitors can enjoy classical and modern art in the countless art galleries along the canals and in the Spiegelkwartier near the Rijksmuseum. This area boasts over 100 art and antique shops.

NIGHTLIFE

Amsterdam offers nightlife aplenty, varying from bars with live music to stylish casinos; from trendy night spots to lively clubs and from tasting houses to entertainment. A range of cinemas show original versions of international films with Dutch subtitles.

Trendy lunch bars and lounge bars, such as Envy, 18 Twintig, Onassis, Stout, and the Supper Club, are the places to go to. Cafés featuring stand-up comedians are extremely popular, such as Boom Chicago and Toomler. To see and to be seen head for 11, Jimmy Woo, Panama, Club Arena or the renewed Odeon.

Most of the cafés, restaurants, night-clubs and discotheques are located around Leidseplein, in the Jordaan and Rembrandtplein areas, and are still going strong in the early hours of the morning. Ask the local office of the Netherlands Board of Tourism & Conventions (see pages 108/109) for more details.

Holland in miniature

The world-famous miniature city Madurodam, which is located within a stone's throw of Amsterdam and the bulb fields, is an excellent place to familiarise with all the surprising features the Netherlands has to offer. The Alkmaar cheese market, the Peace Palace of The Hague, the Royal Palace on the Amsterdam Dam Square, the Cathedral Tower of Utrecht, the canal houses of Amsterdam, and parts of the Delta works, everything Holland is famous for can be found replicated to the smallest detail on a scale of 1:25. All of this is set in beautiful flower gardens.

Madurodam is full of movement. At the new Amsterdam Airport Schiphol you will encounter moving aircraft, a catering service, people waiting in the arrivals and departure halls, the miniature Rijksmuseum, Schiphol Plaza and even an ultra-modern people mover. Windmills turn, tour boats move down canals, fire-fighters are extinguishing a fire in the harbour, modern trains traverse the city on the world's largest miniature railway.

Open year round

Madurodam is opened year round. The two restaurants offer spectacular panoramic views. For schools there are various programmes that are entertaining and educational. All children receive a free 'passport', which leads them through the park in a playful manner. A visit to nearby Scheveningen Beach, the various museums in the immediate vicinity, or a cycling tour of the dunes, can be combined easily with a visit to Madurodam.

Lunch and dinner

Besides visiting the miniature city groups can enjoy delicious snacks, lunches and dinners. Madurodam has two modern restaurants with about 300 seats. Madurodam also offers you countless possibilities for parties, meetings and incentives. From the smallest reception ever to an enormous gala dinner.

The shortest route to Madurodam

By coach/car:

In The Hague (Den Haag), follow the signs 'Scheveningen Haven'. Then follow the signs 'Madurodam'. Parking on the Madurodam car park, € 6.00 per car. Free parking for coaches.

Public Transport:

From The Hague Central Station take tram 9 or bus 22. You can get out in front of Madurodam!

Keukenhof - Spring 2007
March 22th - May 20th 2007

Let spring surprise you

Every spring Keukenhof is a feast for the eye. Millions of tulips and other bulb flowers are then in bloom. A fantastic experience for people of all ages and a wonderful spectacle to photograph! An overwhelming display of colour in a beautiful setting covering an area of 32 hectares that incorporates elements of traditional and modern landscape gardening. The flower shows in the pavilions are unique.

Part of the park has been redesigned for 2005. Surprising and inspiring - brimming with ideas, trends and features that you can apply in your own garden. We look forward to seeing you at Keukenhof!

History

The area now occupied by Keukenhof was covered in forests and unspoilt sand dunes in the 15th century, when the land belonged to Jacoba van Beieren. People hunted here and came to gather herbs for the castle kitchen, which explains how the area got its name. Keukenhof can be translated as kitchen garden. Around 1830, the landscape architect Zocher was invited to design a garden. He was inspired by the English style of landscaping and he designed the basis for the present park.

Flower exhibition

The idea of holding an open-air exhibition of flowers as a shop window for the bulb industry originated in 1949 with a group of flower bulb growers and exporters. These "Royal Warrant Holders", numbering 90 in total, make sure that the best and most beautiful flowers are exhibited, making this a display case for ornamental plant cultivation and flower bulbs in particular. The year 2006 is the 57th time the largest spring flower exhibition in the world will be organised.

Facilities

At Keukenhof there are over 20 hectares of parking space. Buses may park free of charge, and bus drivers have their own canteen with snacks, drinks and papers. The park has five selfservice restaurants, sunny terraces with buffets and a pleasant restaurant, serving Dutch 'poffertjes' (tiny pancakes). The park and the pavilions are easily accessible for the disabled. Wheelchairs and children push-chairs are available at no charge (reservations required ahead of time).

But Keukenhof has more than just flowers

Throughout the park works of art are on display. For the kids there is an exciting Bollebozen trail, an animal pasture and a famous maze. In 2006 several events will be organized. The Summer Bulb Weekend will be held from 7 to 9 April, Flower parade from Noordwijk to Haarlem on Saturday 22 April, Complete arrangements (with creative bulb flower workshops among other things) are available on request, Bicycles for hire (with details of various routes in the surroundings), Exhibitions of fashion accessories, 'Early-Bird Mornings' on 17 April and 14 May (the park is open from 07:00 a.m.), Hats play a leading role on Easter Monday (17 April) as they do during the Easter Parade in New York.

Eine unvergessliche malerische Ansicht!

Kultur, Historie:

die Zaanse Schans bietet ein sehr schönes und authentisches Bild des Alltagslebens im 17. und 18. Jahrhundert. Häuser und kleine Läden in Holzbau, grün gemalt, Mühlen: sie sind weltweit bekannt.
